

Airport Update #1 2014 Winter Storm

Friday, January 3, 2014, 9:00 a.m. – Please be advised that the northeastern United States and eastern Canada are currently experiencing a severe winter storm with heavy snowfall. Flights departing to and arriving from this region may be delayed or cancelled.

The travelling public is strongly encouraged to contact their respective airline directly regarding flight operations. Even flights not destined to this region may be impacted as the airline networks back up from delays. MBJ Airports Limited is in contact with all airlines and will update arrivals and departures information on our website as information becomes available.
